

2017 National Allergy Awareness Month

May is National Allergy Awareness month!

Does your pet keep you up all night because he just won't stop scratching?! Well, he might have allergies! Allergies in humans and pets don't look alike. Pets will show red, itchy skin, recurrent ear infections, paw chewing, hair loss, and more! There are three main categories of allergens, and in each are numerous items that your pet may be allergic to. There are a few different treatment options to choose from to help relieve the itching!

PET ALLERGENS

- Flea and Tick
- Dietary
- Environmental

SYMPTOMS

- Dry, red, and/or itchy skin
- Paw chewing
- Face rubbing against the carpet/couch/bed
- Over grooming (bald patches)

AREAS TO OBSERVE

- Face & Ears
- Armpits/Inner legs
- Paws
- Abdomen & Rear

Come in today if you suspect your pet may have allergies!

Aloha Animal Hospital Associates

4224 Waialae Ave

Honolulu, HI 96816

(808) 734-2242

info@alohaanimal.com

Wednesday 9am-5pm

Sunday 9am-4pm

All other days: 8am-5pm

